

Anthony Bingham has taught humanities and studio art at Miles College since 2006. He received his B.A. in Communications from Antioch College, and his first Master's Degree in Film and Community Media from Goddard College. He received his second Master's Degree in Fine Art from Georgia State University. He has taught studio art and art history at Spelman College, Kennesaw State University, and Jefferson State Community College. He has been awarded artist residencies at the Caversham Center for Artists and Writers in South Africa, and by the Cultural Alliance of Birmingham. His work has been featured in numerous exhibitions, and he received a public sculpture commission from the Committee for the Centennial Olympic Games, Atlanta, 1996. The sculpture, Reunion Place, is located in the historically African-American community of Mechanicsville in downtown Atlanta, Georgia.